Motion Sickness Need Not Spoil Family Vacation

CHICAGO—You don't have to worry about that old vacation bugaboo, motion sickness, according to a Minneapolis doctor.

Under most circumstances, motion sickness can be warded off, and even when preventive measures fail, drugs are available to give relief, Dr. John E. Eichenlaub said.

Motion sickness results from "too much nerve-tickling action" in the ear's labyrinth, the organ that helps a person keep his balance. Keeping the head steady reduces this action. The head can be steadied by leaning it against a headrest, bracing it in position with pillows or by focusing the eyes on the horizon.

It is not wise, he said, to focus on rapidly passing objects, such as autos or telephone poles, since the background seems to "dip and plunge." The same thing happens when one reads or does fancy work. It's all right to read if you choose big type, and periodically look away. Crocheting and knitting should be done only if you can do it without looking, he said.

Youngsters can be encouraged to focus on the horizon by playing animal-or tractor-spotting games, but not license-spotting games.

This background dipping and plunging effect is probably the chief reason for extra risk of sickness in certain airplane seats, especially in those on the left side just back of the wing, he said. The plane usually turns left and when the passenger can see down but can't get a broad long view, he looks at the passing landscape with short, rapid eye movements. So stay on the right, either front or rear, and keep the eyes on the horizon to minimize air sickness, Dr. Eichenlaub advises.

Eyesight Tests Show Child's Need

NEW YORK—For some time Kansas has been conducting a statewide program of giving comprehensive eyesight tests to school-children, tests which go much farther than a mere check with the old Snellen chart. The purpose is to screen out children with seeing faults and advise them to get eye care from specialists.

Results show that one out of every five of the Kansas youngsters had some visual trouble serious enough to impair his school-work—and the children in other parts of the country are undoubtedly fully as deficient. Specialists, teachers, mothers, and high school student volunteers cooperate in giving the 20-minute tests.

Out of one group of 1,200 Kansas children screened, more than 300 revealed seeing troubles which had never been detected before. The ones which show up most frequently are nearsightedness, farsightedness, astigmatism, lack of depth perception, one-eyed seeing and glaucoma.

Women Better Spotting Cancer Than Men

NEW YORK — The average housewife has to be fast on her feet to cope with all the high-pressure salesmen that come pounding on her door. She has to detect the good from the bad—the reliable from the phony. But this training, this ability to tell true from false is paying off in women's lives—this year 19,000 women will be saved from cancer who would have died a decade ago largely because they have learned to sift facts and do the right thing.

The result is that for the first time on record, less women than men are dying of malignant tumors. Women just can't be fooled by household remedies, by pills or secret cures for cancer. More and more they are heeding the advice of the American Cancer Society and going for regular physical checkups.

Oldest Annuitant Is 104 Years Old

NEW YORK—The oldest annuitant on the books of the nation's life insurance companies recently celebrated her 104th birthday.

Miss Sarah A. Walker, who was born March 30, 1853, in Wayland (then Marshall), Iowa, and now lives in Los Angeles, California, has already received $2.50 for each $1 invested in the annuities in 1919 when she was 65. She bought three small annuities to supplement her other income resources and has been drawing income checks for 38 years.

At last count, there were 600 annuitants who had reached 95 years of age, and 40 of these were centenarians.

Palladium

NEW YORK—Palladium, one of the platinum group metals, resembles platinum in many respects. It is similar in appearance, has high ductility and strength but is little more than half the weight. Lightness is an advantage in some uses, notably for large pieces of jewelry.

METHODIST REVIVAL

... Dr. George S. Reamey

The First Home-Coming Service in several years will take place in the Memorial Methodist Church, Appomattox on Sunday, October 13, with Dr. George S. Reamey, former pastor and presently editor of the Virginia Methodist Advocate, with offices in Richmond, as the guest speaker, for the 11 o'clock service. The combined Sanctuary and Youth Choirs of the Church, under the direction of Mrs. Claude Smith and Miss Harriette Holley, will give special selections for the service. Every member, former member and all friends of the congregation are urged to be present for this special occasion.

At 1 o'clock, dinner will be served in the High School Cafeteria, under the direction of the Five Circles of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, who are contacting every family of the church for donations for the dinner. Everyone is cordially invited to participate in this fine Fellowship Occasion in connection with the Home-Coming Services.

The minister of the church, Rev. Richard A. Bergdoll, will deliver the opening evangelistic sermon the evening of the Home-Coming Day as a part of the Fall Revival Services which will continue each night of the week, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Haywood Woolridge, of Lynchburg, will be in charge of the congregational singing, assisted by the two choirs of the church.

Y. W. A. NEWS

The Susan Taylor Whittinghill Y. W. A. of Liberty Baptist Church met Monday night, September 30, at 7:30 in the home of Miss Betty Mitchell. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

President, Peggy Wooten
First Vice-president, Betty Mitchell
Second Vice-president, Peyton Abbitt
Secretary, Penny Abbitt
Treasurer, Ruth Johnson
Reporter, Joella Ferguson.

The members brought towels, which will be sent to a Baptist hospital in Nigeria and they contributed a total of fifteen dollars to Virginia Baptist work in observance of the state missions season of prayer.

Plans were made to conduct a soul-winning and enlistment campaign through visitation on the following night in preparation for the revival to be held at Liberty next week. It was agreed to hold the next meeting on Thursday, October 17, so that the group hight have as guest speaker Miss Kate Ellen Gruver, the children's editor for the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board in Nashville, who will be addressing various church groups in this area during that week.

After the business session, an interesting program was presented by Betty Mitchell and several other girls, who discussed the ways in which our state missions offering will be used. Then everyone enjoyed refreshments, and the meeting was adjourned.

—Peyton Abbitt, Reporter.

Life Abounds In Deepest Parts of Ocean

LA JOLLA, Calif.—Recent research has shown that the fundamental processes of life go on in the deepest parts of the ocean, where pressures reach 17,000 pounds per square inch, the temperature hovers just above freezing, and the light of the sun never penetrates.

No more than a decade ago, says Claude E. ZoBell, professor of marine microbiology, University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography, some scientists believed that life could not exist under these conditions, particularly since it was thought that there was no food or free oxygen at great depths.

But painstaking exploration of the great deeps of the Pacific has shown that animal life exists there in many forms, ZoBell says. Circulating water masses appear to provide food and fresh oxygen.

ZoBell says that estimates indicate a minimum of about 10 pounds of organic carbon exists per acre on the deep-sea floor. He emphasizes the scarcity of information on the region, however. "Our knowledge of animal life on the deep-sea floor having an area greater than Africa is based upon fewer than 100 grab samples fished from depths exceeding four miles."

ZoBell was aboard the Danish research vessel Galathea during her around-the-world-trip in the early 1950's. The party spent several weeks studying the great deeps of the western Pacific.

Although many specimens were collected, the only creatures brought up alive were bacteria. These were shipped to the Scripps Institution in specially designed gear, refrigerated and compressed to 15,000 pounds per square inch.

Mining Income

NEW YORK—The direct share of mining in national income ranges among countries from slightly more than 1 per cent (India, China, Greece) to 10 per cent or more in Peru, the Union of South Africa and Chile, observes a Twentieth Century Fund study. It is about 2 per cent in the United States.
